“ Jackie,

I'm so sorry to hear of your passing. Do you remember the night I babysat for your kids? I fell asleep on your couch. All the doors were locked. In order for you to get into your own house, you had to go through the outside basement doors. I remember. I also remember your German Shepherd that you had. I can't remember her name, but she scared me to death the first day I got off the school bus and she was outside watching me. I was so scare as she was a German Shepard, but when I got to know her....she was the sweetest dog. Rest in peace, Jackie. Susan Barrow Spaulding
